

⚠️ Job Scam Warning – Stay Alert! ⚠️

Saint Brigid Catholic Church is not currently hiring. Go to the Archdiocesan newspaper, Georgia Bulletin | Newspaper of the Catholic Archdiocese of Atlanta, for legitimate job postings.

We've received reports of fraudulent job offers circulating via email, social media, and messaging apps. These scams often impersonate legitimate companies or recruiters and may promise high-paying roles with minimal effort.

Common signs of a job scam include:

Seems legitimate, originating from universities and using a false website (saintbrigid.org)

- Requests for upfront payments (e.g., for training, equipment, or background checks)
- Offers without a formal interview process
- Poorly written messages or unprofessional communication
- Use of generic email addresses (e.g., Gmail, Yahoo) instead of company domains
- Pressure to act quickly or share personal information

Protect yourself:

- ✓ Verify job postings through official company websites
- ✓ Never send money or share sensitive documents with unknown contacts
- ✓ Report suspicious activity to local authorities or job platforms
- ✓ Trust your instincts—if it feels off, it probably is

If you've encountered a scam or have questions, please contact [Insert Contact Info or Organization Name].

Stay safe and informed!